Mikey is a lively 5-year old boy. Now he's come back home with an empty stomach, after playing outside for hours.

Mikey: I'm home! Mom! Are you there?

Hmm? There's no response.

He looks around the kitchen, and finds a package of meat on the dining table.

Mikey: What's this? Meat for today's barbecue?

He touches the package. He thought that it would be cold like normal, but it wasn't.

Mikey: How long has it been here?

At that moment,

Chill: Hey, Mikey! Hey!

Mikey: Huh? Did someone call me?

Chill: It's me, here!

The voice is coming from inside the fridge.

Mikey opens the fridge to find a small girl inside.

Mikey: That was you? You called me?

Chill: Yes, I am Chill. Usually I live in the fridge to keep food cold, and watch food so that germs don't have a chance to grow. But because the meat was left in the kitchen, I ran out of patience and called you.

Mikey: Oh, yeah?

Mikey looks at Chill with curiosity.

Chill: Actually, germs already live on meat. Try putting these "miracle glasses" on. They can't be seen by other people. They'll let you see the germs growing on the meat.

With his miracle glasses on, Mikey finds something black swarming around the meat on the table.

Mikey: What are these?

Chill: They're germs. If they get into your body, you'll get a stomachache and a fever.

Mikey: Oh, no! There are so many of them! This is really bad!

Germs: Ever growing, ever growing♪ Doing bad things, doing bad things♪
Grow, grow, grow♪ Go, go, go♪

Singing excitedly, the germs keep growing and growing.

Mikey: Chill, what can we do?

Chill: I can chill them to sleep, so that they won't grow anymore. Mikey, put the meat in the fridge! Hurry!

Mikey: OK.

Mikey puts the meat into the fridge.

Chill: Now, germs, go to sleep!

Chill breaths out deeply. The germs are covered in cold air.

Germs: Ugh... it's cold... We can't grow in a place like this.

The germs, who had been so noisy before, are now silent, and all of them have fallen asleep.

Mikey: Wow, Chill! That's incredible!

Chill: Ha-ha! It was a piece of cake! I've cooled them down so much that they've all slept, but we can't stop here.

Mikey: Why?

Mikey asked.

Chill: They are sleeping because it's cold now, but when the meat is taken out of the fridge, they will wake up again.

Mikey: Oh, no... Then what should we do?

Chill: Germs hate fire.

Mikey: Yeah! We can grill the meat to knock them out!

Chill: That's right!

Mikey hears his Mom's voice calling him.

Chill: Bye, Mikey!

With that, Chill disappears into the fridge.

Now it's time for a fun family barbecue.

Mikey is watching the meat through his miracle glasses, and can hear the germs' voices.

Germs: Oh no! It's burning hot! We can't go on!

Mikey: Wow! The fire is killing the germs! Just like Chill said!

At that moment, something sprang out of the fire.

Fi: Hi, Mikey, I'm Fi. The messenger of fire. With my power, I can beat germs in a single blow!

Mikey: So it's your power that's been killing germs!

Fi: That's right! Making food tastier with my power of fire is not the only mission I have. I protect all of you by fighting off germs!

Fi looks proud.

Mom: The meat is ready!

Mom places a piece of grilled meat onto Mikey's dish.

Mikey: Wow, it looks so yummy! I love barbecues!

Mikey gobbles up the piece of meat.

At that moment Dad goes to pick up some meat with his chopsticks,

Fi: Watch out! That meat is only half-cooked. It's still red inside. See! Germs are there!

Germs: Oh no! We've been found!

Fi: I won't let you go, germs! Take this! Fire punch!

Germs: We're done for...

The fire punch makes the germs fly away.

Mikey: Thanks for helping Dad, Fi!

Fi: You're welcome! It's no big deal. When you cook meat, it's important to make sure it's cooked in the middle too. If you don't, you can't get rid of the germs.

Mikey: I see. I'll be more careful.

Time passes since the barbecue began, and the fire has begun to burn down.

Mikey: Oh?

Mikey wondered. The germs on the meat aren't disappearing.

Mikey: Fi! Please get rid of the germs on the meat!

Fi: OK! Leave it to me!

Fi tries to punch the germs. But something is wrong.

Germs: Ha-ha! You can't kill us with such weak punches!

The germs are still fit and healthy.

Fi: Oh, no... there's not enough coal. The fire is getting weaker ... I'm feeling tired ... Mikey, would you help me?

Mikey: What can I do?

Fi: Please add more coal ...

Mikey and his Dad put more coal on the barbeque.

The flames get higher. Fi's power is increasing again.

Fi: Thanks, Mikey!

Fi jumps out at the germs.

Fi: Take my special weapon! Fire beam!

Fi's beam hits the germs.

Germs: Oh no! What power...!

The germs disappear in an instant.

Mikey: Fi, you've done it! Thank you.

Fi: I couldn't have done it without your cooperation. Thank you, Mikey.

Mikey: The miracle glasses taught me one thing. Chill and Fi are protecting us by preventing germs from doing bad things. We can be healthy thanks to the fridge and the power of fire.

Fi feels relieved by Mikey's words.

Fi: Mikey, I must go now.

Fi returns to the fire.

Mikey's miracle glasses have also disappeared.

Mikey cannot see the germs anymore, but that doesn't matter because of the important things he has learned from Fi and Chill.
